Secure-Screen
Warranty

Secure-Screen Systems Manufacturer Warranty Information:

The Textilene™ Secure-Screen is warranted for the period of time the screen remains in its original installation on an owner occupied single family private residence (home) until the homeowner(s) residing in the home at the time of installation of the screen(s) sells the home or no longer resides in the home, whichever occurs first, at which time this warranty shall expire in its entirety. The screen is warranted against an increase in fabric openness* greater than 30% as a result of normal weathering. This warranty applies only to fabric openness caused by any source than normal weathering.

The ProTex™ Secure-Screen is warranted for a period of 10 years starting at the installation date and as long as the screen remains in its original installation on a owner occupied single family private residence (home) until the homeowner(s) residing in the home at the time of installation of the screen(s) sells the home, no longer resides in the home, or the 10 year warranty period expires, whichever occurs first, at which time this warranty shall expire in its entirety.

Claims under this warranty are limited specifically to replacement of screen and do not cover the cost of labor, frame, hardware, applicable taxes, shipping or other consequential expenses related to the removal, return, or reinstallation of the screen. Secure-Screen will in no event be liable for special, incidental or consequential damages related to the screen. This warranty is not transferable and shall expire immediately upon the sale of the home by the homeowner purchasing Secure-Screen(s) or at the time such homeowner no longer resides in the home, whichever occurs first. This is the complete and only warranty provided for Secure-Screen's. There are no other warranties, express or implied, for these products.

Secure-Screen Systems warranties all parts with original pack for one year starting at the original shipping date.

*Fabric Openness is the space between the strands in the screen that allows sunlight to penetrate the screen. The more open the screen, the less solar shading the screen provides. If an increase in openness were to occur, the screen would no longer provide as much solar shading as it did when originally purchased (it will not fall apart, develop holes or expand significantly). The warranty allows for replacement of the screen if fabric openness increases as a result of normal weathering.
